Was McIntosh When Wilbert Ceased Firing.

Former Saloon Man Shot to Death In the Edge of Hopkins County.

Gus McIntosh, a former saloon keeper of Mannington, was shot five times and killed by Lewis Wilbert, a young son of Dan Wilbert, postmaster at Mannington, Tuesday. The killing grew out of an old difficulty in which Wilbert was shot and wounded by McIntosh. The latter kept a saloon until about the first of the year, when he sold out to Isaiah Dunning. The saloon was a few feet over the Hopkins county line, the village of Mannington being on the county line.

McIntosh was standing in front of the saloon when Wilbert came up and without provocation began shooting McIntosh, who was unarmed. He emptied his pistol and McIntosh fell wounded unto death. The dead man was 25 years old and leaves no family. His wife died about a year ago.

Wilbert is about 19 years of age and but recently recovered from the wounds inflicted in the former difficulty. The previous trouble occurred in McIntosh's saloon. Wilbert created a disturbance and it is said forced a fight on McIntosh, who finally shot and wounded him.

The killing took place in Hopkins county.

Wilbert surrendered Wednesday to the Hopkins county authorities and is in jail at Madisonville.

DEADLY DIPHTHERIA.

Farmer Loses Four Fine Horses From the Disease.

Mr. Petty, who lives on the Holland farm on the Bradshaw road, lost four horses from diphtheria this week. The animals were taken suddenly sick with paralysis of the throat and one of them was found dead Tuesday. Two others were discovered suffering with the same disease and died in a few hours. The fourth animal had to be killed. Another horse belonging to Mr. Petty is afflicted in the same manner, but Dr. Bradley, the veterinary surgeon of this city, was called and prescribed for this animal and at last accounts the horse was improving. The bodies of the dead horses were sprinkled with lime and buried, the other horses on the farm isolated, and a spread of the disease is not feared.

OLDEST WOMAN

In Christian County Dies at Age of 116.

Lucretia Findley, col., the oldest woman in Christian county, died last Saturday at her home near Beverly. She was born in Virginia in the year 1788, and was therefore 116 years old. She was the mother of fifteen children, only three of whom survive. Her youngest child is now about 70 years old. She was a member of Spring Hill colored Baptist church, having joined about twenty-five years ago, and was baptized by Rev. Jas. L. Allensworth, who was pastor of the church at that time. Rev. Allensworth preached the funeral Sunday.

POISONED BY POKE-WEED.

Trio Made Very Ill But Will Recover.

Fannie Hopper, and two children of Fannie Campbell, all colored, and living on East 17th street, were poisoned and made very ill by taking a tonic made from poke-weed, which was used by mistake for burdock in making the preparation. The trio are still quite sick but it is thought they will recover.

UNION REVIVAL.

Large Crowds Continue to Attend The Meetings.

Several Conversions And a Number of Backsliders Reclaimed So Far.

The Union meeting at the Tabernacle continues to draw large crowds. A rain Tuesday night interfered with the attendance to some extent. The music by Prof. Towner continues to be a delightful feature of the meetings. The new songs are growing in favor and are being more generally sung. The meeting Wednesday afternoon and night showed decided improvement. The preaching was direct, practical and impressive, and the delivery was earnest and forceful. There have been some eight or ten backsliders reclaimed and several conversions. Congregations are large and attentive. The crowd Wednesday night was the largest of the week and last night another big crowd was on hand. Mr. Ham preached one of his best sermons so far on "Prepare to Meet Thy God."

The services will continue with prayer meeting at the Christian church at 10 o'clock, and preaching at the tabernacle at 3 and 7:30 p. m. daily.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLED

Frank Giles Loses His Life in Florida.

Mr. Frank Giles, oldest son of Mr. T. J. Giles, of the Howell neighborhood, was accidentally killed at Newberry, Fla., Wednesday morning. The telegram announcing his death gave no particulars.

Mr. Giles was born in this county and was in the 26th year of his age. He moved to Florida with his father nine years ago. When the rest of the family returned to this county about four years ago, the young man remained at Newberry. He was a machinist and was employed at an Asphalt mine. The supposition is that he lost his life in a mining accident.

Mr. Giles was a most excellent young man and his host of friends will learn of his death with sincere regret.

The body was expected to reach here yesterday morning, but failed to arrive until last night. It was immediately taken to Howell and the interment will take place in the Wilkins burying ground, about half way between Beverly and Howell this afternoon.

HIS WORD FOR IT.

No Need For Hopkinsville People to Do Any Guessing.

No need for Hopkinsville people to fly about in search for relief from bad backs, urinary weakness and other symptoms of kidney troubles. A man whom you can believe says that Doan's Kidney Pills will reach all such cases.

C. B. Eades, of the firm of Eades & Davis, proprietors of the Coal Yard on Seventh St., and the L. & N. R. R., and who lives at 402 East 7th St., says: "I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, and so highly recommended by persons who had used them that I went to Thomas & Traher's drug store, procured a box and gave them thorough trial. I had suffered for a long time with a heavy pain across the small of my back, sharp and acute at times. When I caught cold it always settled in my back and there followed a weakness of the kidneys which was exasperating especially at night. I tried various remedies but none of them gave anything like as satisfactory results as I obtained from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. I am pleased to say that they brought me great relief. I have recommended the Pills and will continue to do so to all my friends and acquaintances."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Don't take the nostrums which are advertised under the name of Sarsaparilla, Blood Purifiers, etc. Not one in ten contains a single grain of the genuine Sarsaparilla Root or Pepsin. Take only Dr. Caldwell's (Laxative) Syrup Pepsin, which is sold by your druggist in 50c and $1.00 bottles.

HEALTH IS YOUTH.

Disease and Sickness Bring Old Age. "Morning, taken every morning, before breakfast, will keep you in robust health, fit you to ward off disease. It cures constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia, fever, skin eruptions and kidney complaints. It purifies the blood and clears the complexion." Mrs. D. W. Smith, Whittier, Texas, writes April 3, 1902: "I have used Herbine and find it the best medicine for constipation and liver troubles. It does all you claim for it. I can highly recommend it." 50c a bottle. Sold by R. C. Hardwick.

No Result.

The visit of August Belmont to Washington is said not to have resulted in any important developments in the Democratic political situation.

EXPERIMENTS WITH PETS.

Madagascar Monkey Required Too Much Attention—So Did Fox Cub for That Matter.

A miniature Madagascar monkey was my next experiment, says a writer in London Answers, and the advent and sojourn of the unhappy little creature reminded me of the time when three of the children were down with measles and bronchitis at once. We nursed him night and day in a cozy little bed made of flannel before a warm fire for a fortnight, while he passed his time in panting and looking pitiful. At the end of this period I returned him in a big hamper, with a hot water bottle to keep his temperature up, to the dealer.

Ronnie was a fox cub, and a sportsman to the foxine equivalent for his finger tips. Although great favorites as pets in captivity in the country, I gathered, the experiment of keeping young foxes near towns and cities had not yet been tried, but there was no reason why it should not succeed. He was kept fastened up in a kennel in the garden, and how he used to get out balled me, but got out he did.

He recognized the fact that the worlded him a living, and that he was indebted to me for providing him with a home. His contributions toward defraying the expenses of the home took the form of whatever feathered creatures crossed his path during his mysterious peregrinations.

Eight chickens, four pigeons, a magpie and smaller fry were laid out in triumph at various times for inspection in front of his kennel, but when, after a period of enforced inactivity, brought about by his being locked up in the toolhouse, he escaped, and out-herded Herod by weighing in with a poll parrot and a four-toed woodpecker. I was constrained to send him away as a present to a lady friend of the editor's whom I had heard express an affection for dumb animals.

And so I have gone back to my my old terrier Chips. He is a clum, though he cannot speak a word except with his honest brown eyes, but he minds what I say to him, which is more than anybody or anything else in this world ever did, not excepting the office boy.

WEEDING AT THE THEATER

Clever Girl Discourses on the Philosophy of Tears Called Up by Sad Scenes.

"There is just this about crying at the theater," said the average woman, to a Philadelphia Inquirer reporter. "You'll cry if you're in the mood for it, and you won't if you're not—no matter how harrowing or non-harrowing the play may be. Like most average women I rarely cry, either at the theater or anywhere, but I long ago discovered that it depends entirely upon my mood at the time. I once went to a genuine comedy and found the tears falling my eyes just because I happened to be blue at the time, and I've been at many a play with all the women round me mopping their eyes and drying their pocket handkerchiefs on their fans, while I—being for some reason or other uplifted—sat there dry-eyed, almost smiling.

"No matter what my mood, however, the thing sure to keep me from weeping at the theater is any emotional display on the part of her who is with me. I can attend the weepiest kind of a play unmoved with my sister, for she starts in way ahead of time, making me feel more like laughing than crying, and then when the true lachrymose opportunity arrives it finds me pathos-proof. This is the only way by which I may make myself immune from weeping at the theaters upon all occasions."

THE AMERICAN MONTHLY REVIEW OF REVIEWS

THE NECESSARY MAGAZINE IN THE PRESIDENTIAL YEAR.

The Review of Reviews is often called a necessity, in recognition of its usefulness in keeping readers "up with the times."

In Presidential election years the REVIEW OF REVIEWS is more than ever "the necessary magazine." Everybody wants to be truly and quickly informed about this or that public question that has forged the front; to know about the new candidates and personal factors in politics, to have a complete picture at hand of the current movement of history.

In Dr. Shaw's editorials, in its authentic and timely contributions, in its brilliant character sketches, in its condensations and reviews of all the important articles of the month, and in its hundred a month of valuable portraits, witty cartoons, and incisive views, the REVIEW OF REVIEWS gives the much desired news of the world and our own progress. "The World under a Field Glass" is the reviewer's descriptive it.

Men in public life, like President Theodore Roosevelt, the members of Congress, and the great captains of industry, who must keep "up with the times," intelligent men and women all over America, have decided it is "indispensable."

Democratic Ticket.

FOR CONGRESS,
HON. A. O. STANLEY, of Henderson county.

County politics are beginning to warm up.—Mayfield Messenger.
Ah!

Cleveland has come out for Parker, which is the worst blow the New Yorker's boom has received.

Mayor D. S. Rose, of Milwaukee, Democrat, was elected for the fourth time Tuesday, by 5,912 majority.

President Roosevelt has suspended the civil service law 60 times, while McKinley did so only three times.

The Democrats ran two tickets in Kansas City and the Republicans took advantage of the situation and elected a city administration.

Hon. A. C. Tompkins, of Owensboro, died Tuesday. His funeral was one of the largest ever held in Owensboro.

Gen. Plugg has been heard from again and the public will be sorry to learn that the Japs have not yet shot the surplus letters out of his name.

A Kansas correspondent says former Senator Harris, of Kansas, is Judge Parker's choice for a running mate. As Judge Parker maintains a discreet silence as to his own aspirations, it is hardly likely that he has been talking about the second place.

Chicago's city election resulted in the election of 19 Republicans and 17 Democrats for Aldermen, local issues. The new council, including holdovers, has a Republican majority of two or three.

Congressman Frank A. Hopkins has no opposition for re-election and is in a position to exchange congratulations with James, Stanley and Smith.

A voting machine, which was officially tested in one precinct in Chicago, enabled the judges to officially announce the complete result of the election in that precinct in 15 minutes after the polls closed.

Within a radius of nine miles of Paradise, in Muhlenburg county, there are 15 persons whose ages range from 80 to 95 years. The place is well named if long life is to be desired.

Col. Jack Chitt is having a hot fight with the "insurgents" for re-election as state capital committee man from the Fifth district. A dispatch from his home says the Colonel is also a candidate for committee man from the State at large and for State Senator.

The Russians have withdrawn to the Manchurian side of the Yalu river, the boundary between Manchuria and Korea. The Japs hold the Korean bank. There are occasional skirmishes but no serious fighting. Russia is still pushing large armies to the front and Japan will not find it easy to win land victories.

All Humors

Are impure matters which the skin, liver, kidneys and other organs can not take care of without help, there is such an accumulation of them. They litter the whole system. Pimples, boils, eczema and other eruptions, loss of appetite, that tired feeling, bilious turns, fits of indigestion, dull headaches and many other troubles are due to them.

Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pills

Remove all humors, overcome all their effects, strengthen, tone and invigorate the whole system.

"I had salt rheum on my hands so that I could not work. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and it drove out the humor. I continued its use till the sores disappeared." Mas Iza O. Brown, Rumbold Falls, Me.

Hood's Sarsaparilla promises to cure and keeps the promise.

THAT CEMETERY ORNANCE.

Councilman L. H. Davis, Chairman of the Cemetery Committee, has explained the passage of the recent ordinance prohibiting work from being done by contractors in Hopewell Cemetery. The city council has recently changed the system of keeping up the cemetery and all moneys paid for improving and caring for lots are now required to be turned into the cemetery fund as city revenues. The sexton is now paid a stated salary of $400 a year. Formerly the sexton was allowed to work by contract on private lots for his own benefit. The new system requires all this work to be done by city employees, that lot owners do not perform in person, thus bringing a revenue to the city and at the same time enabling the city to be solely responsible for what is done and to maintain order at all times. Sexton Johnson has been given police authority and has broken up many abuses that were formerly complained of. Private contractors were in the habit of doing sodding and other work for lot owners, often without due regard to the safety of improvements on adjacent lots, for which the city is in a measure responsible. These are some of the reasons, Mr. Davis says, why the ordinance before the public, lot owners who felt that their rights were being restricted, will doubtless see the wisdom of the new system. As an evidence that it bids fair to be a success, the expenditures for March were only $5 in excess of the cemetery revenues. It is believed the cemetery can and will be made self sustaining for the first time in its history.

Gov. Vardeman, of Mississippi, who was nominated on a platform of violent antagonism to negro suffrage in his state, is proving himself to be a friend of the negro since he became Governor. He is reading the riot act to mobs bent on lynching negroes.

CAT'S CHARACTER.

It is Complex and Capable of Jealousy and Revenge.

A point in the complex character of the cat is her capacity for jealousy. There is never jealousy without love, and this may be added to the proofs of the cat's capacity for affection so strenuously denied by superficial observers, says the Chicago Record-Herald. I have seen a cat deliberately plan punishment for a dog that was receiving more than she considered his fair share of attention at his mistress's hands. She sprang on his back, fixed her claws in his coat, and came back with an air of reproach toward her mistress after the dog had retired to a safe distance.

Feline finds its completest expression in the genuine English tilde cat. There is, to my mind, nothing like the same attraction in the petted Persians of the parlor, beyond the fact that the variety of a kind. Not having to endure the rough and tumble life, they lose their individuality and their character just as human beings do. They love the cream pot more than the person who cares for them. The darlings of the drawing room, too, often are greedy, conceited, irritable and selfish.

Has the cat a conscience? I am compelled to confess that I am rather doubtful on that point. Let us leave it on the basis that a cat is a true woman, and that she can dissemble passing well. It is not her fault if she develops a liking for the family canary and for the goldfish, nor if after eating a brace of the latter she comes with an inscrutable look of innocence on her face and asks for milk.

Deadly Streets of New York.

According to official figures furnished by Police Commissioner Green, it costs the city of New York one life per day, or 365 lives per annum, to keep the traffic of the streets moving. Out of this total sacrifice of human life, street cars were responsible for 172 deaths, wagons and trucks killed 146, sundry accidents caused 29 fatalities, runaway horses killed seven persons, bicycles killed two, while nine deaths were charged to the automobile.

BURTON SENTENCED.

Must Go to Jail Six Months and Pay $2,500 Fine.

Will Also Be Disqualified From Holding Office In The Future.

St. Louis, April 6.—United States Senator J. R. Burton, of Kansas, was today sentenced to six months' imprisonment in the Iron county jail and fined $2,500 for having been convicted of using his influence before the Postoffice Department in behalf of the Rialto Grain and Securities Company of St. Louis and having received payment from the company for his services.

Attorney Krum immediately filed a bill of exceptions in the case and offered a bond for $10,000, which was accepted.

The case will now be appealed to the United States District Court of Appeals, the highest tribunal in the matter.

Senator Burton, who is senior Senator from Kansas, was convicted after an exhaustive trial, in which various letters from him to Rialto Grain and Securities Company, the checks which he received in payment for his service in behalf of the concern before the Postoffice Department and the testimony of numerous agents of the government were introduced.

Senator Burton's defense was that he was acting merely in the capacity of an attorney, and did not employ his senatorial influence in the work.

KEEP HIM THERE

Says the Henderson Gleaner of Congressman Stanley.

Editorial Contrasting the Eastern Custom With Rotation in Office Plan.

In connection with the renomination of Mr. Stanley without opposition for a seat in the national congress, the Gleaner feels it opportune to make some comment upon the advisability of the people of the Second district keeping their member of congress for a longer period of service in that position.

In some way the idea has prevailed that two terms in congress is all that a man should be permitted to fill from this district. There have been two exceptions to this rule since the war, as we remember—Hon. James A. McKenzie having served three terms and Hon. W. T. Ellis three terms. The other members from this district have served either only one or two terms. Just how this sentiment should have found lodgment in the minds of the people cannot be explained or understood, unless it grew out of the fact that two terms for the offices of circuit judge, commonwealth's attorney and county offices should have been considered usually long enough and the same rule was thought to apply to our congressmen.

But there is a vast difference in the length of the terms of a congressman and the offices named and a still greater difference as regards the equipment required in order that efficient service may be rendered. To illustrate, before a man is chosen for circuit judge or commonwealth's attorney, he has already had experience in the line of duty connected with these offices. He has become familiar with the duties, has become qualified to fill the offices by experience in the practice and by knowledge of the laws, and is ready the moment he is elected to enter upon the duties of these positions intelligently and discharge them satisfactorily. And the term for which they are elected is six years, and the usual endorsement brings the period up to twelve years or more. It will be remembered that Judge Cissell served as circuit judge for eighteen years and Judge Givens for twelve. Judge Dorey retiring voluntarily. John W. Lockett served as commonwealth's attorney for twelve years and J. Henry Powell served for eighteen years. In each instance the officer was prepared by previous experience and was thoroughly familiar with the duties to be performed.

Upon the other hand the congressman is elected for a term of only two years and, if endorsed, serves only four years. Unlike the officers mentioned he cannot be prepared by previous training and experience to enter upon his duties at Washington. He must first be elected and spend the greater part of his first or second term before even the most brilliant new member can be expected to make much headway in getting the run of congressional procedure or get important committee assignments, where the real work of congress originates, and is largely determined.

Now it seems to the Gleaner that it would be a wise thing, for the people of the Second district to change their ideas along this line and put their congressman upon the same footing as their circuit judges and commonwealth's attorneys, so far as the length of service is concerned. This would give a congressman three terms of two years to equal the first term of these other offices and six terms of two years to equal the two terms almost invariably given those other officers.

By doing this the district could hope to be creditably represented and their congressman would certainly have more weight in all matters both local and general, than a new man just serving his first term or two.

We do not put this proposition upon the idea that the people owe it to themselves, to be efficiently represented, and call attention to the disparity in the terms and conditions affecting the offices named to show wherein the people are not inconsistent. If six or twelve years is not too long for a circuit judge and commonwealth's attorney, (and no one claims that it is) then certainly the same period will not be too long for a congressman, who has to spend the greater part of one or two terms in becoming familiar with his duties and acquiring an influence or prominence. If four years is enough for a congressman, then six and twelve years is too much for the other officers named, when they are qualified in all essentials when they enter upon their terms.

It is getting so that it is a sacrifice for a really high class man to serve as a member of congress. Take a man who can command a lucrative practice as a lawyer and he can easily make $3,000 to $4,000 or more a year at his profession, with the likelihood of constantly adding to it year by year. As a member of congress he receives $5,000 a year, but the expenses of a campaign for the nomination and election frequently consume the whole of one year's salary, leaving $5,000 for the two years. The cost of living at Washington is high, and before the average member of congress knows it he finds himself "hard up" financially, unless he has a bank account of fat dimensions upon which he can draw. After he has one or two hard fights for renomination or reelection, he is generally willing to let go and try to settle down at something to make a livelihood. If he were reasonably sure of a longer tenure, it would be to a great extent different, and the district could generally command a higher class of ability to start with and a better character of service with the lapse of years as a member of that body.

The East has been much wiser than we of the South in this regard. When those people find a really valuable man they keep him in congress and he does not have to engage in a hand to hand struggle every year to retain his seat.

Let us profit by their example and do likewise.

DOG DIET

For Filipinos in St. Louis According to This Story.

St. Louis, March 31.—Beginning on April Fool's Day all stray dogs in St. Louis will be served daily to members of the Igorrote and other tribes of Filipinos at the World's Fair. Arrangements to this effect were completed with the officers of the dog pound today.

The Igorrottes, who at home are head hunters, are very fond of dog meat, and to-day threatened to strike unless served with their favorite flesh. Accordingly stray dogs instead of suffering death by asphyxiation, will be slaughtered, dressed and roasted, fried, boiled, grilled or fricasseed, to suit the peculiar taste of the Igorrottes.

On their arrival at St. Louis nearly the 300 Filipinos suffered pneumonia. After a native cough had been held it was decided by the Filipinos that the absence from their daily diet of dog meat was the cause of their suffering from pneumonia.

One of those suffering with pneumonia, by the aid of friends, managed to secure a prime piece of broiled dog steak. He recovered. This coincidence the Igorrottes called an example of cause and effect. They at once appealed to Mr. M. R. Healy, who acts as their butler. Mr. Healy applied to the dog pound officers and secured permission to take all the stray dogs he wanted for the table of the Filipinos.

The skins of the dogs may be used by the Igorrottes for their abbreviated costumes, as they refuse to dress in American conventional style.

VERY TRYING TO WOMEN

Are the Peculiar Ills Brought on by Catarrh of the Pelvic Organs.

(Pe-ru-na is a Tonic Especially Adapted to Their Peculiar Diseases.)

Mrs. Louise Westbrook, No. 9 East Columbia St., Detroit, Mich., Secretary of the West Side Lotus Club, writes:

"For several years I suffered with leucorrhoea and painful menstruation, which was followed by general debility. Until I was but a wreck of myself. Thanks to Peruna I am a well woman today."—Louise Westbrook.

Miss Jessie Westland, No. 707 Beaubien Ave., Detroit, Mich., District

Deputy of Detroit Independent Order of Good Templars, writes as follows:

"Peruna has been a blessing to me and gladly do I endorse it. For two years I suffered with catarrh of the stomach. I lost flesh and grew thin and emaciated, nervous and exhausted, so that I could neither work or enjoy life. I began taking Peruna and can now eat and enjoy everything I eat. I have been well over a year now."—Miss Jessie Westland.

Catarrh is a very frequent cause of that class of diseases popularly known as female weakness. Catarrh of the pelvic organs produces such a variety of disagreeable and irritating symptoms that many people—in fact, the majority of people—have no idea that they are caused by catarrh.

A great proportion of women have some catarrhal weakness which has been called by the various doctors who have consulted by as many different names. These women have been treated and have taken medicines, with no relief, simply because the remedies are not adapted to catarrh. It is through a mistaken notion as to the real nature of the diseases that these medicines have been recommended to them.

If all the women who are suffering with any form of female weakness would write to Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio, and give him a complete description of their symptoms and the peculiarities of their troubles, he will immediately reply, with complete directions for treatment, free of charge. "Health and Beauty," a book written especially for women, sent free by Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

Miss Alice Dressler, of No. 1313 North Bryant Ave., Minneapolis, Minn., writes as follows concerning Peruna:

"I was suffering from catarrh of the throat and head. One of my college friends, who was visiting me, asked me to try Peruna and I did so and found it all and more than I had expected. It not only cured me of the catarrh, but restored me to perfect health."—Alice Dressler.

Miss Mamie Groth, Plattville, Wis., writes:

"I have for several years suffered with frequent backache and would for several days have splitting headaches. Several of my friends advised me to take Peruna and I asked my physician what he thought of it. He recommended it and so I took it and am entirely without pain of any kind now."—Mamie Groth.

In a recent letter from No. 2 Grant Ave., Denver, Col., Mrs. Ida L. Gregory writes:

"Some six years ago my husband suffered with nervous prostration, and, advising with a family physician, he brought home a bottle of Peruna. His health was restored from its use, his appetite was increased and restful sleep came to him."—Ida L. Gregory.

Miss Florence Murphy, No. 715 Second Ave., Seattle, Wash., writes:

"I suffered for over a year with female trouble, and although I tried several physicians none of them seemed to be able to help me permanently.

"I only took a little over three bottles of Peruna to make me well and strong. I never have backache, headache or bearing down pains any more."—Florence Murphy.

HONESTY IN BUSINESS.

American and English Merchants Usually Try to Play Fair.

Your average American business man admits that he is working for the almighty dollar most of the time, but this does not necessarily conflict with his high sense of honor. Foreigners, even those who dislike us for our ability to get there, are willing to admit that the American transacts his business affairs along the lines of fairness and equity.

It is not too much to say that Englishmen conduct their own affairs in much the same fashion. In proof of this, says an exchange, the following story has just been made public: The London firm of Anthony Gibbs & Sons, has for its distinguished senior partner the present Lord Aldenham, who was, before his elevation to the peerage, Mr. Hicks-Gibbs, for many years a respected and useful member of parliament. The junior partners, the third generation of the firm, are also members of parliament. Anthony Gibbs & Sons negotiated in the recent past the purchase of two war vessels for the British government from Chile. The transaction was one undertaken in the ordinary course of business, upon which the firm made its legitimate commission, discharging what was doubtless delicate negotiations with integrity and tact. There is, however, an old ad of George III., good of its kind, but long superseded by more modern legislation, which disqualifies as a member of parliament any one holding a contract from the government. It has never been enforced in recent times because if it applied to one of the partners of a large concern it has exactly the same moral reference to any stockholder in a public corporation undertaking any kind of government work.

The whole transaction was one of almost routine business, but the responsibility that some question might be raised upon their honor as business men and members of parliament has induced the junior members of the concern, Alban Gibbs, senior member for the city of London, and Vicary Gibbs, member for the St. Albans division of Hertford, to resign their seats and appeal to their constituents for reelection.

Iridescent Feathers.

Why are the feathers of doves and pigeons iridescent? The explanation has been sought by Dr. Strong, of Haverford college, who reports as follows: Iridescent feathers from the sides of the neck of the common "homer" pigeon appear green when the sum of the angles of incidence and reflection is less than 90 degrees, and purple when that sum is greater than 90, but less than 140. The iridescence is produced by a peculiar form of barbeles, which overlay each other like shingles in a roof. The same barb may have iridescent and non-iridescent barbeles. The former have much more pigment than the former, and the pigment is in the form of spherical granules of melanin that fill cavities inclosed by a thin, transparent layer of keratin. The spherical pigment granules lying next to the transparent horn layer produce a dispersion of incident light and the unaided eye receives a mixture of great numbers of the spectra thus formed.

A Sliding Village.

No one will envy the sensations of the inhabitants of a village built on a shifting foundation. This is the trying position of the village or hamlet of Canaville, in the Roussillon district. Poised about 3,000 feet above sea-level, the hamlet has for some weeks been terrorized by oscillations which were vaguely attributed to earthquake until scientific investigations were undertaken. It now appears that the rocky mass of the hill on which the place rests is shaken from its basis and is subjected to a continuous sliding movement, which must ultimately bring destruction.

Long-Distance Courage.

ORIGIN OF JEWELRY.

Personal Ornaments That Were Objects of Magic-Ethnic Uses.

Prof. W. H. Ridgway, in a paper on "The Origin of Jewelry," read before the British association, according to the Boston Transcript, said: "Personal ornaments in civilized countries consist of precious stones or imitations of stones, pearls (which are the product of shells), or shells themselves, amber, jet and occasionally various other objects, such as tigers' claws, etc. It has hitherto been held that men and women were led by purely esthetic considerations to adorn themselves with such objects; but a little research into the history of such ornaments leads to a very different conclusion. The fact is that mankind was led to wear such objects by magic rather than by aesthetic considerations. The jewelry of primitive peoples consisted of small stones with natural perforations, e. g., silicified spores or joints of conifer, or of substances easily perforated, such as amber, the seeds of plants, shells, the claws and claws of animals, bones or pieces of bone, pieces of wood of popular kinds.

"Later on they learned to bore hard stones, such as rock crystal, hematite, agate, garnet, etc., and obtain the metals. All people value for magical purposes small stones of peculiar form or color long before they can wear them as ornaments; e. g., Australians and tribes of New Guinea use crystals for rain making, although they cannot bore them, and it is a powerful amulet in Uganda fastened into leather. Somewhere in Africa carry a small bag of pebbles as an important part of their equipment. So it was in Greece. The crystal was used to light sacrificial fire, and it was so employed in the church down to the fifteenth century. The Egyptians under the twelfth dynasty used it largely, piercing it along its axes after rubbing off the pyramid points of the crystal, sometimes leaving the natural six sides, or else grinding it into a complete cylinder. From this bead comes the artificial cylindrical beads made later by the Egyptians, from which modern artificial cylindrical glass beads are descended."

BEANS VERSUS LITERATURE.

Thoreau Liked a Simple Fare—Ham and Eggs for Byron.

The best that may be said for Thoreau's regimen of beans, says the Atlantic, is not that the immortal diet was merely wholesome, or even that it was transmuted into delightful literature—but that Thoreau liked it. He was catering for himself and to himself. When Byron came of age, he provided the conventional feast and for his tenants in honor of his majority, and then he took himself to London, where he dined alone upon his favorite delicacy, ham and eggs. He catered for his public at Newstead, and to himself in town. But the only editors who permit themselves such solitary luxury of personal indulgence are the young men who own, write and print the queer little 45x57 magazines with still queerer names. They give no hostages to fortune except paper, printer's ink, and time. If you would seek a better analogy to the real editorial function, follow some excellent citizen of Baltimore, or of a foreign city where marketing bears as yet no social stigma, as he journeys to the public market, with basket upon his careful arm, intent upon selecting a dinner for his family.

Modern Views of Matter.

Condensed into a few words, these are the "Modern Views of Matter," as expounded by Sir Oliver Lodge: Electricity is a substance, the only kind of substance, and all matter is merely an accumulation of electric charges. It appears probable that these electric charges are all of exactly the same amount, although some are positive and some negative, and that the atoms of the chemical elements are formed by varying numbers and arrangements of these charges, or electrons. There are about 700 electrons, 350 positive and 350 negative, in the hydrogen atom, which has been so long regarded as the final and indivisible unit of matter; there must be about 16 times as many in an oxygen atom, and about 265 times as many, say 160,000, in a radium atom, the heaviest known.

AWFUL SWEAT-BATHS.

Eskimo Children Rush from Hot Room to Roll in the Snow.

Boys who make a fuss because their parents oblige them to take frequent baths should be glad that they are not Eskimo children living on the shores of Norton Sound. In that cold region of Alaska, says the Chicago Inter Ocean, all the boys are obliged to take a sweat bath every week, and this bath is no joke.

A fire of driftwood is built in the center of the floor of the kashim—the one-roomed house where the men and boys of a village pass most of their time—and when the smoke has passed off and the wood is reduced to red, glowing coals, a cover is put over the smoking hole in the roof and the place becomes intensely hot. The boys then must take off their clothes and sit about the furnace-like apartment until their skin becomes as red as the shell of a boiled lobster and seems on the point of blistering.

Owing to the intense heat the bathers are obliged to wear respirators to protect their lungs. These respirators are pads of shavings bound together, convex on the inside and convex on the outside, and large enough to cover the mouth, nose and part of the cheeks of the wearer.

Across the inside runs a little wooden bar, which is held in the teeth to keep the respirators in place. The boys sit there until they are dripping with perspiration. Then they rush outside into the intense cold and roll in the snow.

E. W. Nelson, who spent between four and five years in investigating for the government the Eskimos' lying about believing that, says: "On several occasions I saw them go from the sweat bath to holes in the ice on a neighboring stream, and squatting there, pour ice water over their backs and shoulders with a wooden dipper, apparently experiencing the greatest pleasure from the operation."

PIN-MONEY AT HOME.

This French Woman Made a Specialty of the Doughnut.

With a family of small children, it was the desire of my heart to make a little spending money, as we call it, writes one bright woman in the Woman's Home Companion. Everyone said that I was a splendid hand to make doughnuts, so I thought my friends might take pleasure in buying them from my children.

One bright Tuesday morning I started my little girl and boy out with new baskets on their arms, each carrying six dozen rich brown doughnuts to sell at ten cents a dozen. Having instructed them where to go, they soon returned with glowing faces and their hands full of dimes and pennies, carrying empty baskets, and telling me that so many said: "Come again."

In a short time my regular baking-days were Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, and my pin-money increased. I made room in a side room of my home, where I kept doughnuts and cakes every day.

With a little help two days in the week my business became a pleasure to me and my dear children, and we all have our pin-money made at home, and my children are learning the value of saving, to the delight of their father.

Cost of Leap Year.

The fact that this is a leap year carries with it an effect apt to be overlooked, which is that the annual expense of governing the nations will be considerably increased by the inclusion of the extra day. This comes home with the greatest force to those governments which have the largest armies to feed and provide for. The French budget commission, at present sitting, is met by the fact that the one day will add to the expenses of the war office for 1904 a sum of nearly 800,000 francs, which will be expended in rations for the men and forage for the horses. When all the various state departments are separately considered the total sum runs into several million francs.

has been put in order, and with excellent facilities, again opens its doors for the sale of

LOOSE TOBACCO ON THE FLOOR.

Light Weights or in Hogheads, or as our friends may prefer to sell. We invite the patronage of the thousands of our friends, who so liberally patronized us the past season, and earnestly solicit a trial shipment from those who have not so favored us.

We Have Good Quarters for Teams and Drivers in the Warehouse.

That the marketing of Tobacco on the open markets by concentrating the demands, will bring better results to sellers, is self-evident truth. Public meetings, stenographers, typewriters and their offspring "Resolutions," cannot better conditions. But united determination on the part of planters to offer their Tobacco on open markets to the highest bidder will bring face to fact every known demand for Tobacco. Help us to sell your tobacco for good prices by patronizing open market. It stands planters in hand to think of this.

WRONG COUPLE WEDDED

But Unsuspecting Groom Righted the Error Quickly.

A comedy of errors was enacted in the parlor of the Wellington hotel, Evansville, Sunday, says a dispatch from that place. The chief actors were Magistrate H. F. Schrader and two Kentucky couples, Gus Meyers and Miss Pearl Owen, of Sabree, Ky., accompanied by Robert McCurry and Miss Zimmie Grayson, went there to be married. Meyers secured his license and the Magistrate came to the hotel. He went through the ceremony, but when it was finished he found he had married McCurry and Miss Grayson instead of the couple who had the license. He then turned to Meyers and Miss Owen and united them.

McCurry said he and Miss Grayson were not even sweethearts and had no intention of getting married, but since the Justice had made the mistake he would stick to it, and immediately went to the clerk's office and got a marriage license. This was signed by the Magistrate, and the ceremony was thus made legal.
